

Part III

Match the Deaf proverb on the left side with its "hearing" proverb on the right side. Note that a few proverbs from earlier chapters are included in this part. One answer is given below.

Let noise be silvery _____ for silence is golden.

Love is deaf. 8

A sign to the wise _____ says it all.

Sign little _____ and watch much.

Put your money _____
where your hand is.

Talk might be cheap _____
but sign is steep.

One who listens _____
with eyes is not so deaf.

Small potatoes _____ have big eyes.

Empty-handedness _____ betrays no one.

The hearly bird _____ catches the word.

What is signed _____ cannot be unsigned.

Put your hands into motion _____
once your brain is in gear.

1 Little pitchers have big ears.

2 What is said can't be unsaid.

3 Talk is cheap.

4 None so deaf as he who won't hear.

5 A word to the wise is enough.

6 The early bird catches the worm.

7 Silence is a friend that betrays no man.

8 Love is blind.

9 Put your brain in gear
before you put your mouth in motion.

10 Speech is silver, silence is golden.

11 Put your money where your mouth is.

12 Say little and listen much.